Hello all, I am a new member here form lowa. I found you here while trying to lookup some info on a corn furnace I recently bought on an auction. For the last 2 winters I have been using an American Harvest corn stove to heat my garage. It couldnt quite keep up. I wasn't really looking for anything different, but I was at an auction recently that had 5 or 6 SAR furnaces. When they got to them I went over to see what they were going to go for. The first one was probably one of the first that they ever made. I picked it up for $30. I thought it was a steal. It seems to work, but I was looking for more info on them. All I could seem to find was on your old forum. I look forward to learning a lot from all of you.

Welcome. The old forum has a lot of info. Along with using the Wiki and the members here I'm sure you'll get it up and burning just fine.

You got a good deal, matryd. There are about 400 posts on that furnace on the old forum; some with pictures. It is an impressive unit. It's a shame that they were going for less than their scrap value. Here's the link to SAR section of the old forum. Happy reading!
